

"I eat at Haley House all the time," he said, pulling out all of the change from his pockets.

Last Friday, as Haley House's neighbor Maggie sat on her stoop selling raffle tickets for the Silent Auction, two passerbys stood out in their generosity.

Seeing the signs that read "Help Haley House" and "Haley House Raffle!!", one man kept on walking. A minute later, he turned around and walked back, pulling a five dollar bill out of his pocket to give to Maggie while saying "Haley House does good work. I go there for breakfast." Later that afternoon, another man stopped mid-stride, pulled out a handful of change from his pockets, and said "I eat at Haley House all the time". Thanks to the generous words and support of our soup kitchen guests, neighbors, and friends, the Silent Auction was a wonderful success. A huge "Thank you!" to all involved!

Drawing on their first-hand knowledge of the issues, the producers take a close look at the apartheid comparison often used to describe the Israeli-Palestinian conflict.
